Want to ask your friends for donations, but don't know what to say?

Hi _____,

Want to see me sweat for a good cause? Well, you're in luck!

This March I'll be (enter challenge here) for the Poverty Cycle challenge.

I recently found out that around 4.8 million people are victims of forced commercial sexual exploitation- approximately the population of New Zealand! These people are vulnerable due to poverty, and in search of a better life. Once in the hands of traffickers, they're forced into lives of slavery and exploitation, often never to return home.

This isn't right. Every person deserves access to freedom. That's why I'm taking up the Poverty Cycle challenge- because I know my contribution will bring hope to others, empowering those trapped in slavery worldwide.

I would love if you could support me in this challenge! Any donation no matter how big or small will make a huge difference. Here's what your donation could achieve:*

- $20 provides fees for one student to attend Early Childhood Education for a fortnight.
- $80 supplies new mothers with two months of ante and post-natal care, including one-to-one counselling sessions.
- $150 establishes two modules of needs-based training for a women's action group.
- $300 donates two full educational support scholarships for girls who are vulnerable in the community.

Visit my fundraising page <<insert your link here>> to donate today.

Thanks so much!
